

St. Louis is full of opportunities and support for Latinos and Asians. From cultural festivals to thriving immigrant-owned businesses, both communities have been growing in St. Louis for decades. The city's foreign-born population grew 23% from 2022–2023 — the highest increase among major U.S. metros. This included 14,000 more Latinos and thousands of new Asian residents, placing our region 4th in Latino growth. The average age of Latinos is 23, and many Asians are also younger than the general population, whose average age is 46.
